New initiatives to further promote Trenchless Training.

JBP are delighted to announce recently signing two important memorandums of understanding with Malaysia's National Sewerage Company - Indah Water Konsortium (IWK), and the Malaysia Association of Trenchless Technologies (MATT), for co-operation in developing and providing professional development opportunities and training for the Trenchless sector, both nationally and more widely across the ASEAN region. This builds on the trenchless training JBP has provided over the last several years for engineers and technicians at IWK and other organisations and businesses working in the sector.

JBP, together with IWK and MATT, will use its best efforts, years of experience working in the sector and extensive networks, to bring the widest range of knowledge, experience and expertise into planned programs of training and professional development. We look forward to a very fruitful co-operation with both IWK and MATT in achieving the shared central objective of these MOU's, namely to raise professional standards and promote the use of Trenchless where ever and whenever possible.
