

A new Training Platform for Trenchless Professionals

JBP are delighted to announce a new platform - www.trenchless.training - offering Trenchless Professionals opportunities to enhance their technical expertise and improve their practical skills.

We work with training partners who are current Trenchless practitioners, selected for their knowledge, extensive hands-on experience and expertise in their specific fields.

Registration for our first course in Sewer Condition Assessment & Classification, with Dr. Dec Downey, is now open.

Our courses will be available in situ when circumstances require, on-line through a fully developed learning management system (LMS), or with blending learning giving live access to our experts. We will deliver up-to-date training of the highest standards.
